NHS Frontline Workers Day

LYNNE STUBBINGS

The WI proudly supports NHS, Social Care and Frontline Workers Day on 5th July 2021, and we are delighted to be a part of this special celebration to say thank you for the continued hard work and dedication of NHS, social care and frontline workers. We are particularly so proud of the many incredible WI members who are also NHS staff and frontline workers, our WI heroes, who throughout the pandemic have shown such strength and resilience by bravely stepping forward to support others.

We would love to see WI members across the country organise special Afternoon Tea events within their communities to mark the NHS and Frontline Workers Day this year, and we encourage as many others as possible to get involved too. The WI has created a unique celebration cake, which can be made by people of all ages from all backgrounds, all across the country, and be shared together at the same time on this special day. We hope this will be an opportunity for communities, families, and friends to come together in whatever way possible, to truly celebrate our remarkable NHS and frontline workers.

Chairman's Address

Hello Everyone,

In a fit of misguided enthusiasm in that spell of lovely weather we had in April, I put the summer duvet on the bed and started preparing all the borders in the garden ready for summer bedding plants. Now May is here and the winter duvet is back on the bed, and the greenhouse is bursting at the seams with plants desperate to be bedded out but are too tender to survive the ground frosts that we have been enduring most nights. On the plus side the blossom trees here in Bournville have been flowering magnificently. It always amazes me that Nature is so extravagant in providing such a proliferation of beautiful blooms for our delight.

A couple of Sundays ago I went off to the Lickey Hills for my annual pilgrimage to see the new green of the leaves on the beech trees and the carpet of bluebells that so encapsulate Spring in England and was rather taken aback to find that nothing was fully out yet. When I think back to my much younger days though, it was always in late May that we used to go to the Rivacre Woods on the Wirral peninsular where I lived to see the bluebells. It is only in more recent years that they have been flowering in April; whether that is a sign of global warming or simply because it is generally slightly warmer in the Midlands is a conundrum I can't answer. My mother had a strange saying that "blue and green should never be seen without a colour in between" that I still don't understand because I find the combination of that lovely shade of green on new leaves underpinned by the blue of the bells a glorious juxtaposition of colours.

I have attended some of your Annual Meetings via Zoom over the last few weeks and I have thoroughly enjoyed seeing so many members still keen to take as full a part as possible in WI life, albeit at a distance. I have been delighted to receive an invitation to a REAL Annual Meeting which is planned for next month when we can legitimately start getting together again. I can't tell you how excited I am to be visiting a WI where I shall be able to talk face to face with people rather than via a screen!

Along with those members who are acting as Delegates, I shall be attending the NFWI Annual Meeting later in June but again, that will be a virtual experience and however good the technology is hearing Jerusalem being belted out with gusto in the Royal Albert Hall by such a large number of women is an experience to be remembered and I say that as a former member of the CBSO Chorus who has performed there several times.

I am sure you are all looking forward as much as I am to getting back to life as normal as possible very soon now. There will be lots of gossip and laughter as well as some sadness in that first meeting as we put the last 18 months behind us and move into a post-Covid time in true WI spirit. Let's look forward with hope that never again will we live through a pandemic that disrupted our lives to such an extent.

Hedge cutting and bird nesting: To those members who read my article on bird nesting last month, I must clarify a matter which has been raised by a member. She was horrified when she read that (as it appeared) I was recommending hedge cutting in April. Unfortunately, the article had been unavoidably delayed by a month so that if it had appeared in March, the advice that everyone should have cut their hedges "by now" was appropriate see RSPB.org.uk for more details

My Family of Newts

Many years ago, part of my work in conservation involved restoring creating and restoring ponds and I remember on one occasion being asked to restore a small dewpond which had virtually dried up. It was overgrown with mainly bullrush and flag iris and so had to be cleaned out. All the plants which were to be restored were carefully housed in large tubs which also contained as much of the water as we could salvage. Imagine our surprise when we found that amongst the plants were newts. We needed to identify them in case they were great crested newts which are a protected species under the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981. They turned out to be smooth newts, the commonest in the UK and so we relined the pond and replaced the plants. As there were quite a few left over and no call for them, I brought a few flag iris home for my tiny pond. Alongside the pond I'd constructed a stone wall out of old pieces of sandstone which were lying around in the garden. I soon discovered that I had inadvertently brought a few newts in the roots of the iris and they swam around happily in the pond. Towards winter, I began to worry about them as I didn't realise that my stone wall would provide the perfect hibernaculum for them over winter. However, they can be seen climbing out at the base of the wall in spring and happily finding their way into the water.

They're still thriving some thirty years later and even cope with the pond being drained occasionally but are quick to return to the water and celebrate their freedom to swim again.

You are invited to add your voice to keep up the pressure on government and sign the Climate Coalition's DECLARATION TO THE PRIME MINISTER online. They have ramped up the UK's ambition to reduce carbon emissions by 78% in the next 15 years. We are only seeing this increase in ambition because of the pressure put on government by people like you.

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH ITALY

Associated Country Women of the World

Pamela Griffiths (ACWW Representative) attended a Special World Conference by Zoom in April which was held to discuss a resolution to postpone the 30th Triennial World Conference to May 2023 in Kuala Lumpur Malaysia. ACWW societies voted unanimously in favour

Our Federation Chair (Lynn Smith) and Pamela Griffiths have filled in a questionnaire from Southern Counties ACWW Supporter's Group to gauge the level of awareness and support for ACWW within the W.I.

Associated Country Women of the World

The Associated Country Women of the World is an International Organisation that pursues its charitable objectives through its member societies, individual members, and networks. Together, we represent more than 9 million women in more than 80 countries around the world. We do this through advocacy, partnership, sharing knowledge and local activities. This includes using our Consultative Status with the UN and its Agencies to represent rural women, facilitate better access to better information resources, funding community development projects and training programmes.

What is Pennies for Friendship?

Pennies for Friendship is the general fund of ACWW. It enables us to maintain the office and staff, where we host Board and Committee Meetings, and keep an extensive archive. Pennies for Friendship also allows us to facilitate the network that connects women across the globe. We produce awareness raising material, advocate for rural women at the United Nations, and our Area Presidents carry extensive work all over the world.

The Idea

The idea was simple: every member, and member of member societies would give one small coin in addition to their membership payment. This led to the establishment of the Million Members Campaign – as ACWW grew, so would the funds which are – needed to maintain this great organisation.

PROJECT LINUS UK

There are 3 sizes of blankets/quilts that the project need, they are: - baby, approx. 36" square, child: - approx. 45" x 60", and teen: - 50" x 72". You need to use 100% acrylic yarn, please no wool because some children are allergic to wool and acrylic is easily washable. If you wish to create patchwork blankets, 100% cotton is to be used, they must be lined and all bindings to have no raw edges. This information is taken from - projectlinusuk.org.uk

10 Stitch Blanket

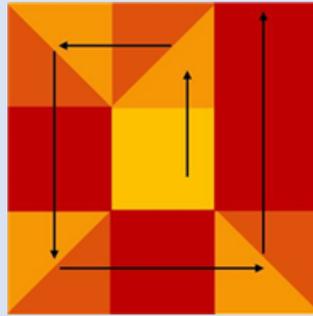

Can be knitted or crocheted.

To avoid sewing up when strips are completed use this join as you go method:

K9, slip next stitch knitwise, pick up and knit one stitch from the edge of the next row of knitting, pass the slipped stitch over. Now turn and knit all 10 stitches to complete the row.

If using crochet do exactly the same, just pick up the stich next to the current row.

Shaping is achieved by working short rows. Knit the specified number of stitches then wrap the following stitch, turn the work and knit back. This wrapping and turning will be abbreviated as w&t in the pattern and is worked like this:

Bring the yarn forward, slip the next stitch purlwise, take the yarn back again, replace the slipped stitch on the left hand needle, bring the yarn forward again and turn the work.

Because of all the turning, it's best to knit this blanket on short needles. As it grows you'll find that you won't need to turn the whole blanket so the process is smoother.

To begin:

Cast on 10 stitches and garter stitch 18 rows to form the central square.

Work the corner steps 1&2, then repeat to form a double corner. All other corners will be single from then on.

Corner: Step 1

Row 1: K9, w&t, K9
Row 3: K8, w&t, K8
Row 5: K7, w&t, K7
Row 7: K6, w&t, K6
Row 9: K5, w&t, K5
Row 11: K4, w&t, K4
Row 13: K3, w&t, K3
Row 15: K2, w&t, K2
Row 17: K1, w&t, K1

Corner: Step 2

Row 1: K2, w&t, K2
Row 3: K3, w&t, K3
Row 5: K4, w&t, K4
Row 7: K5, w&t, K5
Row 9: K6, w&t, K6
Row 11: K7, w&t, K7
Row 13: K8, w&t, K8
Row 15: K9, w&t, K9
Row 17: K10, turn, K10

Now work 20 rows of garter stitch using the join as you go method or alternatively sew up at the end.

Continue to work around in a spiral increasing the number of rows as you go and shaping the corners by following steps 1&2.

Its surprisingly addictive.

This month I thought I would look at what to do with all those oddments of yarn that seem to accumulate in bags and boxes. There are times when we think that some of them can be too small to do anything useful with, but at the end of last year a useful post appeared on my Instagram feed just showing me what I could do. The result is sometimes known as a 'scrappy happy' yarn ball or a 'magic' yarn ball. You can either knit scarves, squares or crochet blankets or shawls using this technique.

Firstly, we have to join all those oddments of yarn together, I am going to show you a 'Russian join' or a 'Russian knot' on the following page.

You will need the following: -

Craft paper size 8cm or 10cm square. Paper scissors, button(s), garden cane or barbeque skewer, sticky foam pads or double-sided tape.

For a brooch you will need, felt or cotton fabric size, safety pin or brooch, button(s) or beads, needle, and thread. Meeting details below.

I hope to be able to repeat this workshop as an evening event possibly in late June.

Russian Knot

Select two ends of yarn to be joined and lay them out on the work surface as shown.

Thread a wool needle with one of the yarns and weave the needle back through the yarn leaving a loop.

Insert second colour through the loop and then pull the needle through the yarn.

Repeat the threading process with the second strand of yarn and pull tight. This makes a smooth and strong join.

Continue joining scraps together and wind into a ball as you go.

The results can be quite interesting!

A 10 stitch blanket in progress. I can't remember what comes after the green yarn, which makes this technique all the more interesting.

Don't forget!

Project Linus, you will need to bring your completed blankets to our Annual Meeting in October.

Montgomery Shield.

The closing date for entries is FRIDAY 27TH AUGUST.

I know of only two entries so far, it would be good to have more for judging.

Zoom workshop paper and fabric windmills on Thursday 27th May at 10:00am. If all goes well, I will be doing another in November for an eco friendly door swag for Christmas. I will be putting the instructions for the paper/fabric windmills into the COG for those of you who missed the workshop.

Block of the month will return in June.

Locked into Reading

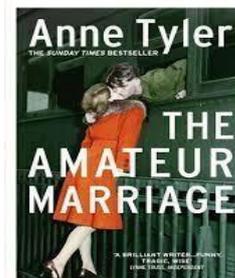

The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night Time – Mark Haddon

This is a riveting, and in many ways very sad, book about a young teenager with Asperger's Syndrome. At the same time, it is also a very funny book. It won numerous well-deserved literary awards when first published and was also adapted for the stage into a marvellous play.

It gave me an insight into the workings of someone living on the autistic spectrum and hopefully I will look with sympathy and more understanding of people who are different. I cannot imagine how Mark Haddon wrote this book – it is incredible. I would also say it is a totally absorbing enjoyable read. It starts with a "murder" and it is a story of misunderstanding by the boy, Christopher, of misguided cover-up by his father and the lack of understanding from people who do not understand his condition. Go on a journey with Christopher and cheer him on, as I did. I cannot recommend this remarkable book too much – it is brilliant.

The Amateur Marriage – Anne Tyler

This book follows a young couple from their marriage into old age starting at one world changing event through to another. In it Anne Tyler captures the evocative nuances of everyday life during these decades with such telling precision that every page brings smiles of recognition. Throughout, as each of the competing voices bears witness, we are drawn ever more fully into the complex entanglements of family life in this wise, embracing, and deeply perceptive novel.

The Running Hare – John Lewis-Stempel

It's all about converting a once chemically farmed field into an old-school style arable patch with the aim of bringing back the natural nature cycles of less intensively farmed areas.

Written in exquisite prose, The Running Hare tells the story of the wild animals and plants that live in and under our ploughland, from the labouring microbes to the patrolling kestrel above the corn, from the linnet pecking at seeds to the seven-spot ladybird that eats the aphids that eat the crop.
